In the pocket of the coat was a small purse containing a button on which was stamped a star. This button cor-responded with those on the coat. All of the garments were of cheap materials, and there were several safety pins in one of the skirts, which was riped open in the back. The woman was apparently not over five feet four inches in height, and under 30 years of age.

LE ROY SMITH AND WIFE ON ILL-FATED STEAMER

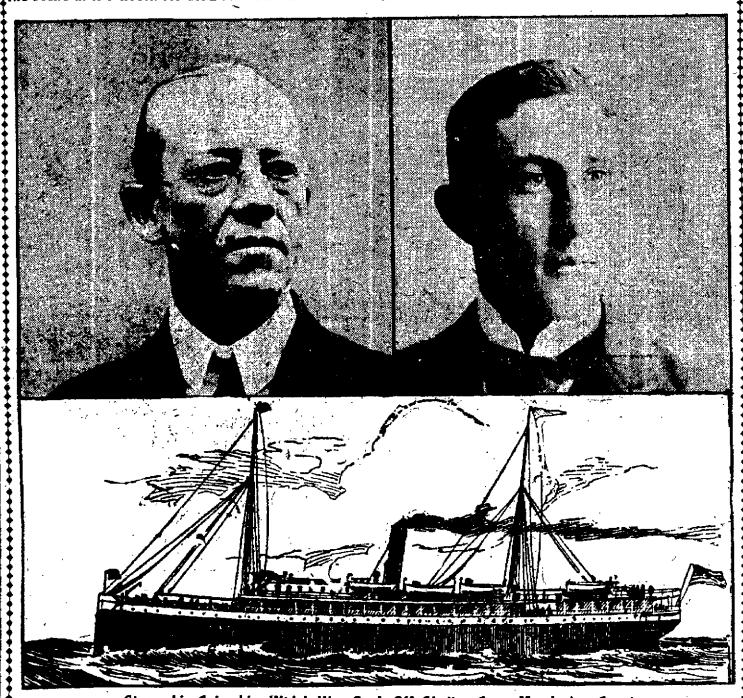

Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Smith of this city are among the missing passengers of the Columbia and it is feared that they have shared the tragic fate of many others. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have been married only about a year and had recently opened a pretty flat at 1276 Webster street.

Le Roy Smith was associated in business with his brother George Smith of the firm of Smith Brothers, hardware dealers on San Pablo avenue in this city.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.-In one of the worst marine disasters in the history of the California coast, between 100 and 150 lives were lost, as far as has been learned, by a midnight collision between the steamer Columbia and the steam lumber schooner San Pedro in Shelter Cove, twelve miles southwest of the Mendocino-Humboldt county line, between 12 and 1 o'clock vesterday morning.

Only meager details of the tragedy have been received, though every effort has been made to get the facts. Scores of telegrams to Eureka, the nearest point of importance, remain unanswered.

The few details known here were brought by the steamer Roanoke and the steam schooner Daisy Mitchell, which arrived in San Francisco this forenoon.

Sea Is Smooth, but Weather Is Foggy

The Columbia, a 300-foot steel vessel of the San Francisco and Portland Steamship Co., while bound from San Francisco for Port-The schooner Daisy Mitchell arrived at San Francisco at 10:30 a.m. this morning. She brought land, Or., with 189 passengers and a crew of sixty, collided with and was rammed by the San Pedro, a 160-foot wooden schooner, southbound for this city.

> The sea was smooth but the weather was foggy. The San Pedro looming out of the mist a few ship's lengths away, bore down on the Columbia at high speed, despite frantic efforts to clear, and with a grinding crash sank her stem fully ten feet into the Columbia's port:

> Nearly all of the Columbia's passengers and many of her crew were asleep in their cabins and bunks when the crash came. As the San Pedro backed away the sea poured in through the ragged hole in the Columbia's bow above and below her water line, and in five minutes the vessel sank to the bottom, the deep waters of Shelter Cove covering even the tips of her masts.

Captain Goes Down With Ship

The story of that five minutes is yet to be told, and until it is told by some survivors, the facts of the tragedy can be but guessed

According to J. S. Flynn, a passenger on the Roanoke, Captain P. A. Doran of the Columbia, succeeded in launching four life boats and two rafts before the Columbia sank. Flynn, in an interview is quoted as saying that eighty-eight passengers-all men got away in this manner and were saved; that Captain Doran acted with great coolness in the face of death and went down with the Flynn is further quoted as saying that not one of the hundred odd women passengers were saved.

Shortly after the collision the steamers Roanoke and George W. Elder and the steam schooner Daisy Mitchell, all southbounds came upon the scene and stood by. The Elder took the San Pedro in tow and the latest report announces their arrival in Eureka

"I don't think I will ever forget the terrible scenes of panic which ensued Men rushed panic stricken the entire length of the deck and fought with their fellow passengers for a chance to escap death. Above all the disorder, Captal Doran, cool and collected, strove to maintain order, and in the height of the wild confusion, succeeded in putting over the side all of the starboard boats.

"After passing through ten miles of wreckage on our way down here, the Roanoke succeeded in picking up a life raft. Underneath this raft was found the dead body of a man in a life preserver. # Malapropos Remarks.

I REPUITE O

Professor McTaggart, who is delivering a series of lectures at the summer school of the State University, denies drawing a comparison, in one of his lectures, between the Irish and the Jupanese unfavorable to the former. He was reported in all the papers as stating that the Japanese were far better civic material than the Irish. He certainly did eulogize the Japanese in a way that reflected on foreigners of Caucasian descent.

Even if a wrong construction was placed on his remarks, he was exceedingly malapropos and lacking in taste. He is a foreigner himself, and was speaking academically in an American public institution. He could not have been ignorant in regard to the pending controversy regarding the treaty rights of Japanese in this country and the desirability of admitting Japanese in the United States. A blundering talk susceptible of misinterpretation touching a public question of deep significance to the people of California indicates a woeful lack of tact and discrimination.

His laudation of the civic virtues of the Japanese was ill-timed and out of place. They are not civic material, as we understand the term in the United States. They do not come here intending to be citizens, do not desire to be citizens or become Americans in the full sense of the word. All their patriotism and ideals are centered in their own land, and those in America constitute a foreign colony owing their allegiance to the Mikado and the national and race aspiration he represents.

As for the Irish, they come here to become citizens; they assimilate easily and enter whole-heartedly into the spirit of our institutions, are extremely loyal, and adapt themselves at once to their political and social surroundings. They do this all the more easily because in coming here they discard an enforced allegiance they hate and despise and forswear a flag that is to them an emblem of wrong and oppression. Only a judgment perverted by hostility and prejudice could place them lower in the civic scale, than the Japanese. At any rate, it is not the business of Professor McTaggart to decide for Americans who shall be admitted to this country on any

The Proposed Political Coalition.

The trustees of the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and the Merchants Association have sent a letter to the county committees of the Republican, Democratic and Union Labor parties urging joint action to secure an effective non-partisan administration of municipal affairs. To that end the committees are asked to favor the selection of a joint ticket to be voted for at the coming election.

San Francisco is in sore need of political and industrial peace, but non-partisanship in politics comes very near being an "iridescent dream," to use the simile of Senator Ingalls. It is well nigh impossible to attain while radically diverse views of domestic policy on aged and wealthy Chinese retired prevail. # HEART: TRIBUNE'S PAGE FOR WOMEN: HOME

COMMANDMENTS FOR THE SUMMER GIRL

When you go forth upon your summer couting, aghter, you maturally want to make it a success. You desire to please and be pleased. Therefore, it is important to get off on the right foot, so to speak, and to this end I conjure you, as you journey up and down the land. to take heed to your travelling manners.

It is impolitic to make the statement, but observation shows that there is somethong about a railroad ticket that brings out all the selfshness and redeness and, lack of consideration in the average woman as a , hot positice brings out the measies. You may deny this, but if it isn't true please tell me why, when you enter a Pullman car full of women, your heart sinks down in your boots with apprehension, and you can see even the colored porter turn pale with horror?

The Woman on the Car

It is because experience has taught you, if you have prer travelled before, that every individual lady believes That because she has bought a seat in the car she has m right to run if for her own exclusive behoof and benleft, without regard for the convenience or comfort of anybody else. If she suffers from an apoplectic tendency she demands that every window be kept wide open. If she is afflicted with neuralgia she insists that every crack be hermetically sealed.

If she has children she urges the little dears to amuse themselves by rubbing bread and jam over your new alligator bag. She clutters up the aisle with her Euggage, regardless of the skirts it may snag. She bargicades herself in the dressing room and takes her time in making her totlet, although she knows that a dozen disheveled sisters are waiting in kimonas and with their back hair down, without the door.

And she keeps the porter and conductor on the Fump doing unnecessary things and answering fool

More Provincial, More Guilty

The more provincial a woman is, and the less she has travelled, the more guilty she is of these offences. Women who have been about learn how to give and ake and to consider others. Besides which they are mot so mortally afraid that they won't get their money's worth if they don't eat everything on the menu in he dining car, monopolize the dressing room, and give the porter housemaid's knee waiting upon them,

So, daughter, if you wish to escape the suspicion of being on your first railroad journey show some decency toward your fellow passenger. Because you do it every morning at home, don't do physical culture exercises in the dressing room, or put in an hour cold-creaming and alcohol-rubbing while forty-leven women are waiting to wash their faces and take down their curl papers before the breakfast car is switched off. Think not either that you will win the admiration of others by emerging from the dressing room after a set-to of a couple of hours with curling tongs, even though every hair is marcelled like an ocean wave. Far from it. The other women will not be sitting up rapturously exclaiming, "Isn't she beautiful!" On the contrary, they will be saying to themselves with heartfelt earnestness, "I wonder how she ever managed to escape from the herd of other pigs in the country!"

Cut Down on the Baggage

Forbear, also, daughter, to encumber the car with your bags and baggage. The first time a woman goes on a trip she takes along as many things as if she was expecting to become a Swiss Family Robinson and be marooned on a desert island for the next thirty years. To her surprise she finds out that while possibly the railroads are robbers and oppressors they certainly are good providers, and that there are mighty few comforts you don't find to your hand on the average train. Therefore, she begins dropping off baskets and bundies, and by the limited amount of hand luggage she carries shall you know the experienced traveller.

Costly thy travelling bag as thy purse can buy, for the bag oft proclaims the woman's taste, but have it.

no bigger than you can comfortably bestow in your own section, for you have no right, legal, moral or otherwise, to pile it out in the alsle where every human being who comes along will have to climb over it.

I also entreat you, daughter, to be not one of those case-hardened egotists who pile the flowers with which their indescreet friends have burdened them down in starting on a journey in the wash basin in the women's dressing room. Surely a special curse deserves to be uttered against a woman who is so abnormally selfish that she expects her fellow passengers to either do without bathing or else wash in the fetid water wherein, decaying flowers have been placed to keep them fresh.

You can't probably keep idotic people from afflicting you with flowers, as a parting gift, but you can show that you've got the right feeling by throwing them out of the window of the car as soon as you are safely out of sight of the donor. Same way with fruit. How anybody with a grain of Christian sympathy in their souls can reconcile it to their consciences to perfume a whole car with the sickening odor of stale oranges and bananas and apples is something that passes comprehension. Commit not this offence against your unorfending fellow passengers.

Be Human and Good Natured Above all, daughter, be human and good natured. If there's a suffering sister in the dressing room doing contortions frying to fasten the middle button of her shirt waist, don't be afraid that she'll mistake you for a lady's maid if you offer to lend a helping hand. If there's a poor, tired, nerve-wrecked woman with a crying baby, don't add to her misery by glaring at her as if she were a criminal who ought to be chucked off the train. Reflect that you were once a crying baby yourself, and that in all probability the time will come when you will be going back to mother with a wailing infant of your own. Don't be vulgar enough to get into flirtations with strange men, but don't hesitate to return a civil answer to a civil quesion. Any woman who can't tell the difference between a gentleman and a cad at sight hasn't got enough sense to be let out

. When the ordinary delays and inconveniences of travel occur, don't act as if they were sent for your special annoyance. Take them cheerfully and philosophically, and don't forget to wire the individual who is to meet you, so that he won't spend 'steen hours kicking his heels around the railroad station.

Follow these rules for travelling, daughter, and the people who scowled when they saw you come into the train will smile when you leave, because they will know that they have entertained an angel unawares. And most unexpectedly.

stances where a woman's influence has been felt in not one country, but in the whole world of politics.

It has often been asked how much influence the wife of a public man bears on his political career. This is hard to estimate; but this much is certain: The man who comes to Washington, either as a member of Congress or of some other branch of the government where his position is one of prominence, is very unfortunate if his wife is not one whom he can trust to making her way socially. # Care of Bedding.

Few people take proper care of bedding. It is a rock on which many good housekeepers go to pieces, says the Boston Traveller. To begin with the mattress. In France and Germany they are remade every spring. In how many houses in America is it done? It is considered too expensive to send them to the shops, so they remain in the same condition for years, perhaps, and we got so used to lumpy beds that we accept them as the necessary evils of life. But if we cannot afford to have them remade every year, we can at least take pains to keep them fresh. As soon as a mattress is made it should be enclosed in a cover of unbleached sheeting. This will protect it from dust, and the sheeting should be removed and washed at least once a vear.

Whenever a room is not likely to be used for some time the mattress should be lifted from the bedstead, sa that the air can reach it from all sides. It seriously injures a good hair mattrees to keep it for long without a proper siring, and every mattress in regular use should be turned at least once a week. The best way to clean bed feathers is to put them into a bowl of hot soapsuds, shaking them well all the time they are in the water. Then rinse them thoroughly and wring them in a cloth, so as to extract all the moisture possible. Spread them out on a clean sheet and beat them well with a stick. Secretary, RUFUS P. JENNINGS GENERAL ATTORNEY M. D. CERF

J. DALZELL BROWN JOHN LLOYD DAVID F WALKER RUFUS P. JENNINGS B. M. GUNN 100,000 SHARES OF THE CAPITAL STOCK OF THIS COMPANY ARE OFFERED FOR SUBSCRIPTION AT $100 PER SHARE.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

This Company has been organized to loan money on income property in San Francisco on what is known as the bond and mortgage plan. This involves the issuance of bonds secured by first mortgages on income property, and the sale of guaranteed mortgages. AN EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY TO MAKE MONEY—EARNINGS OF CAPITAL STOCK SHOULD CERTAINLY EXCEED 12 PER CENT PER ANNUM.

A FEW WORDS TO INVESTORS :---SOND AND MORQTAGE COMPANIES: The first company of this kind was founded by Frederick the Great of Prussia in 1776. The plan proved so sound that these companies spread over Europe, and within the past few years have been introduced into America. Their success has been phenomenal. The Credit Foncier of Parls is cited as an example. At the time of the France-Prussian War the bonds of this Company sold higher than French Government bonds. One of these companies has now outstanding loans upon New York real estate exceeding $95,000,000. These companies profit by loaning their funds upon mortgages at higher rates of interest than they pay on their bonds, and by the interest received on their capital, which is loaned on first mortgages on income property. The capital stock of these companies in America is earning from 12 to 16 per cent per annum. THIS COMPANY SHOULD EARN MORE ON ACCOUNT OF ITS

2. SPECIAL OPPORTUNITIES IN SAN FRANCISCO FOR SUCH A COMPANY: In California Nature has stored away a vast treasure of gold. In 1966 the gold production of the State amounted to $19,500,000. Since 1849 the gold production has been $1,450,000,000, a sum equaling the world's stock of gold in 1849; yet it is believed that but the outermost coffers of this stupendous treasury have been opened. In California is to be found, moreover, the richest agricultural region in America. On the Pacific Ocean California has already a great commerce, which will expand by leaps and bounds. In the harbor of San Francisco the United States has one of its most valuable assets, for this is one of the greatest harbors of the world. The City of San Francisco is destined to be one of the greatest cities of America. She is California's child. She is the commercial and financial heart of California. Her vast business has been unhoused, and new enterprises are waiting to be housed. MONEY IS URGENTLY NEEDED FOR THIS. TWO HUNDRED MILLION DOLLARS WILL BE REQUIRED WITHIN THE NEXT FIVE YEARS. The security is excellent. Forty thousand men are engaged in the rebuilding of San Francisco. Not only is the wonderful activity going on in San Francisco; the whole State is developing with marvelous rapidity. The gross earnings of the Bouthern Pacific Company in the past fiscal year were $117,000,000—a record-breaker and an excellent indication of the prevailing prosperity. All of this phenomenal activity requires capital-hundreds of millions. The SAN FRANCISCO BOND AND MORTGAGE COMPANY intends to furnish a comiderable share of the funds required for the rebuilding of San Francisco. YOU ARE INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN ITS CERTAIN SUCCESS.

There is no investment safer than that offered by the SAN FRANCISCO BOND AND MORTGAGE COMPANY, and owing to the exceptional conditions, the not earnings of its capital stock should considerably exceed 12 per cent per annum-

PLAN OF OPERATION.

The paid-in capital is loaned on approved mortgages. These mortgages are assigned to a trustee, and against them the mortgage bonds of the Company are issued. No change in securities is permitted without the consent of the trustee, who must first be satisfied that the value of the mortgage to be substituted is at least equal to that of the one to be withdrawn. The money realized from the sale of these mortgage bonds is insued, and the new mortgages are assigned to the trustee, against an issue of additional bonds, which in turn are sold, the process being repeated as often as the business warrants. In addition to this, mortgages guaranteed by the Company are sold to investors at a lower rate of interest than called for by the mortgages, the Company profiting by the difference.

The Sin Francisco Bond and Mortgage Company has three sources of profit:

Among the attractive morsels in the framatic fare of the week will be the bill offered at the Liberty Playhouse, with Denis O'Sullivan in the first of three Irish dramas to be given during his engagement, to wit: "Arrah Na Pogue." The engagement promises to be a highly popular one. Mr. O'Sullivan is well known for his splendid vocal work and operatio achievement, but makes his first local appearance on the dramatic stage this

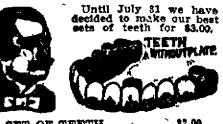

The Irish plays selected offer the new star peculiarly happy oportunity. His genial and romantic personality enable him to portray their picturesque heroes with happy conviction, and the strong attraction of the vocal programe that will be introduced by the singer will count heavily with the audiences, already promising to be very large. The plays Mrs. Wayne Merredith, Miss Winnie and themselves are always favorites, with George Merredith and Mrs. H. S. Scribner their abundant patriotism and ingenious mixture of pathos and comedy, so characteristic of the people about whom they are written. They will be revived, too, in this instance with exceptionally handsome settings, nothing that could contribute to their success having been neg-

Whenever a sore or ulcer refuses to heal it is because the blood is infected with poisonous germs or some old blood taint which corrupts and pollutes the circulation. Nothing is more trying than a non-healing, chronic old ulcer. The very fact that it resists all external applications, and ordinary Denis O'Sullivan, the Great Irish treatments, is good reason for alarm, for the same germ which produces cancerous ulcers is back of every old sore, and especially is this true if the trouble be from any inherited taint. Surface treatment cannot reach the trouble—the blood is at fault and must be purified before a cure can be hoped for. In S. S. S. will be found a remedy for sores and ulcers of every kind. It is a perfect blood purifier—one that goes directly into the circulation and promptly cleanses it of all impurities, poisons and taints. The ulcer can never heal while the blood discharges into it the noxious matter with which it is infected, but when S. S. S. has rid the blood of this cause and freshened and built up the circulation the sore will heal naturally, and of its own accord. S. S. S. begins at the bottom and heals the place as it should be healed and makes a permanent and lasting cure. Book on Sores and Ulcers and any special medical advice desired will be sent free to all who write.

> The speculators who have been selling Union Pacific convertible fours "when issued" were caught in a trap and punished severely. It is said that Mr.: Harriman greatly enjoyed their discomfiture, as their operations undoubtedly had some effect on the subscriptions. When the issue was first announced, and long before any of the bonds were sold, some of the curb brokers began trading in them at prices below the subscription price, which was 10. They expected that there would be a large public sub-scription and that they could obtain all the bonds they wanted when the time came to make the deliveries. The public, however, took only $4,000,000 of the bonds, and the remaining $71,-990,000 will be locked up in the hands
